Highly Appreciating Agronomists

One September day in 2017, respected Comrade Kim Jong Un visited a farm's institute newly built as a base for studying cutting-edge agricultural science.

That day, he paid close attention to the living conditions of its researchers. After taking a measure to solve the problem of their housing on the spot, he dropped in at a bedroom to acquaint himself with their living.

The officials were deeply impressed as he tapped the wall and turned on the faucet of a washbasin in the bathroom.

After seeing the dining room and sports apparatuses in the fitness room, he said with satisfaction: The institute looks quite smart. It is really wonderful. Now our researchers can do their research without any worry. Agronomists should be well-treated. The agricultural front is an outpost, a vanguard post, in the battle for defending socialism.

And at this front, agronomists stand at the most important position. They are likened to platoon or company commanders in the army who are in the vanguard of the line of charging forward. The officials were filled with great pride that agronomists live under the loving care and trust of the peerlessly great man.
